

ANNUAL STATEMENT ON RESEARCH INTEGRITY 2022/ 23

The University of Roehampton is a signatory to the Concordat to Support Research Integrity (UUK 2012; updated 2019), the national framework for good research conduct and its governance. In accordance with the Concordat, this statement outlines how research integrity is supported and strengthened at the University of Roehampton. It also provides a statement on any cases of research misconduct or formal investigations that have been undertaken in 2022/ 23.

Environment for Research Integrity

The Research Integrity and Ethics Committee is the University's senior body with oversight for all matters relating to research ethics and integrity. A Committee of Senate, it oversees the Ethics review and approval process, deals with relevant strategic and policy matters, and is responsible for compliance and implementation.

The Vice-Chancellor has overall responsibility for ensuring that the University of Roehampton meets its obligations and observes best practice in research integrity.

Anyone who has any concerns, or wishes to raise any issues in relation to research and its integrity at the University, is able to communicate with the University Secretary as an independent point of contact. They can be confident that their anonymity will be protected.

Policy Framework

The following policies and procedures support a rigorous approach to ensuring research integrity at the University of Roehampton: University Policies can be found here.

- Code of Good Research Practice and Research Integrity
- Ethics Guidelines (to be updated)
- Data Protection Policy
- Data Protection Guidance for Researchers
- Health & Safety Policy
- Intellectual Property Policy
- Public Interest Disclosure Policy
- Disciplinary Procedures (Staff)
- Student Disciplinary Regulations

Ongoing Activities to Support Research Integrity

- The Research and Knowledge Exchange Committee provides leadership for all research related matters at the University of Roehampton, and includes representatives from all academic schools/ faculties and the postgraduate research community.
- Research students are supported by the Research Students Development Programme, an ongoing training programme covering all aspects of research activity and personal development.
- All staff in the Schools of Life and Health Sciences and Psychology who are involved in clinical research are required to complete training in Good Clinical Practice.
- All staff have access to Research Integrity training, and are encouraged to read the Concordat and the University's Code of Good Research Practice and Research Integrity.
- Research Supervisors are supported by internal training.
- The Research Integrity and Ethics Committee provides continued oversight and review of ethical considerations of proposed research activity, and provides assurance, reporting to Senate.
- The Research Office, Data Protection Officer, Contracts Adviser and Health & Safety Office provide support for researchers who are conducting research.

2022/ 23 Activities to Support Research Integrity

- Internal training sessions were delivered and all staff are invited to attend to support their ongoing professional development. All new staff (and research students completing an ethics application) must complete a mandatory online course on data protection.
- A Good Clinical Practice course was run by the University.
- Online presentations on ethics procedures and on good research practice and research integrity were created for the Graduate School (replacing face to face presentations at Graduate School induction days) so that they are available for research students at any time.
- The ethics application review processes have been streamlined.
- The University of Roehampton Code of Good Research Practice and Research Integrity was revised and updated in November 2022; the next review will be in November 2024.

Research Misconduct

The University has appropriate measures in place to ensure that any allegations of research misconduct are dealt with in a transparent, timely, robust and fair way. This is set out in our Code of Good Research Practice and Research Integrity. All employees are able to report concerns in confidence to the University Secretary (information regarding this is given in our Public Interest Disclosure Policy).

In 2022/ 23 there have been no cases of research misconduct found at the University.

Conclusion

The University continues to promote and prize the highest standards of research integrity. We will continue to develop our policies and practice to ensure that our research staff and research students are supported in adopting a rigorous approach to research and its integrity.

Identified Actions for 2023/ 24

- Carry out a review of our policies and procedures in relation to the Concordat to Support Research Integrity via the UKRIO Self-Assessment Tool (Version 2.0, 2021).
- Circulation of updated guidelines from the UKRIO.
- Ongoing: Update the University Ethics Guidelines.
- Further research integrity and ethics training sessions.
- Further University Good Clinical Practice courses.
- Training sessions on the ethics review process and research integrity for new School Ethics Representatives and reviewers.