The Southlands Crest

The college crest says a lot about the history of Southlands. The lamp at the bottom of our shield is the lamp of light and learning, indicating our commitment to education and the founding of our college as a place for the training of teachers. The red clams in the middle are a symbol of the Wesley family. John Wesley was the founder of Methodism, which is the Christian denomination which built Southlands. Methodist values still play a big part in the life of the college and university. The clams are shared with the crest of Westminster College, another old Methodist teacher training college, now based at Oxford Brookes University. Southlands grew out of Westminster in the 1870s as a college catering exclusively for women. The fleurs de lys at the top of the shield represent the association of the college with the French royal family (the college's two former sites in Battersea and Wimbledon were previously residences of that family). The pelican at the top of the crest feeds its young with its own blood. This image, taken from the natural world, is a traditional Christian symbol of the sacrifice of Christ and indicates the college's roots in the Christian faith and the college's commitment to serve others. The same meaning is found in the rising sun, used since the fourth century AD as a Christian symbol of God's presence in the world. The crest contains our college motto – Light, Love, Life – and from it we take our college colours of blue and gold.

Welcome

from the Head of College

I am delighted to welcome you to the University of Roehampton, and especially to Southlands College

Roehampton is made up of four colleges, each with long and rich histories. Every member of the university, staff and student, is also a member of a college, and this will come to mean as much to you as being part of Roehampton itself.

Southlands College is a place for you to explore who you are and the world around you. Our focus is to help you understand what you want to be, helping you to gain the skills and confidence to achieve your academic, personal and professional goals. We encourage you to engage with events, workshops, and student leadership programmes that will support your development.

Our diverse community of students and staff are encouraged to share their own culture, and there will be plenty of opportunities for you to learn from people who have different backgrounds to you. Our cultural events are inclusive and usually come with the chance to try foods from around the world!

The college was founded in 1872 by the Methodist Church as a place of learning for aspiring female teachers. Our Methodist values are strongly grounded in everything we do, and the church continues to support the college in all the ways it can. Our aim is to give you all the opportunities, support and guidance possible to reach your potential, no matter your starting point in life.

As well as helping you learn, the college team can also learn an incredible amount from you and your experiences in life. Please do come and speak to us so that we can get to know you and understand how we can help you develop. We look forward to getting to know you during your time at the University of Roehampton.

Lewis Redfern
Head of Southlands College

The Southlands Spirit: Do all the good you can... to all the people you can

What is Southlands College?

Southlands College is part of our University campus, we are at the northern end of the site, closest to Barnes Station, opposite the Welcome Centre and near to the university library. Our buildings are designed around a large grassy space, known as the quadrangle (or just "Quad") and consist of:

- Queen's Building (classrooms, offices, lecture halls and prayer rooms)
- Lakeside (the Reef, Senior Common Room and other eating and meeting spaces)
- The Well (chapel and chaplaincy spaces)
- Halls of residence: Aldersgate Court, Epworth Court and Wesley Hall (blocks A-G)

Our College Community

Southlands is home to about 6,000 students, of whom 300 live in the college. Many of our students study the subjects taught in the college, but a large number are taking degrees across all our academic departments, at all levels from foundation to postgraduate study.

The following people are all part of Southlands College:

- All students resident at Southlands
- Commuting students studying in the Faculty of Business and Law and Applied Music Research
- All other staff based in Queen's Building including community music and e-sports
- Students and staff who work within the Law department in Mandela Building
- Students who have chosen specially to be members for a personal reason
- The college staff team (contact details on the back)
- Staff of the university library

Valuing One Another: Inclusion and Diversity

Every member of Southlands College should expect to feel loved – embraced by our whole community as a unique and utterly special person. Each individual has the potential to change the world and to make society that bit better for us all. We want to make sure you realise that potential and that you encourage everyone around you to do the same. At Southlands, we hope to provide a range of resources and activities to enable this to happen.

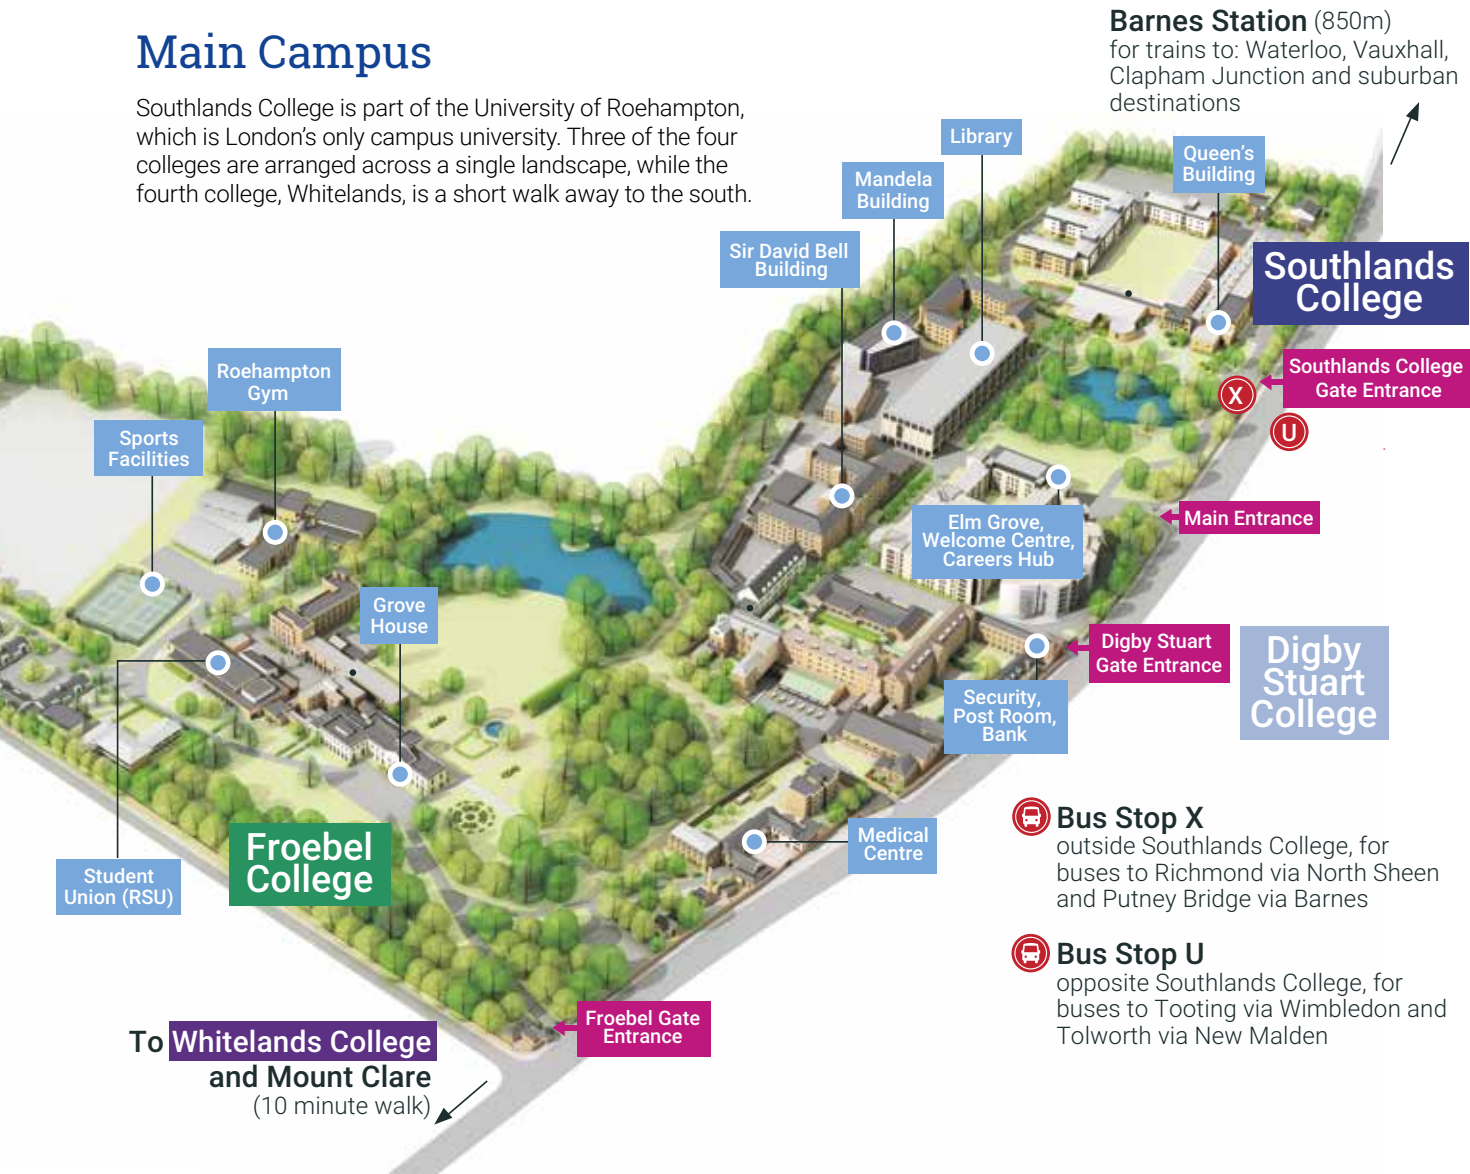

At Southlands and across the university, students from minority groups and communities under-represented in Higher Education can find both specialist support and also supportive social communities. If you are part of the LGBTQ+ community, a student of colour, a mature student, a disabled student, a student with caring responsibilities, a person of faith, or a member of any special community, you will have access to support services and student societies, and all events are designed to be inclusive of your needs. Contact one of the college team, visit the university website, or visit the Students' Union to find out more.

The university's Student Code of Conduct provides a framework for the behaviour of our community, as do our statements and policies on equality, diversity and inclusion. Roehampton is an extremely friendly and diverse community, but we know that nowhere is perfect. Never hesitate to approach a member of the college staff team if you experience discrimination, bullying or unfair treatment of any kind. We will do all that we can to support you.

Finding Your Way

Main Campus

Southlands College is part of the University of Roehampton, which is London's only campus university. Three of the four colleges are arranged across a single landscape, while the fourth college, Whitelands, is a short walk away to the south.

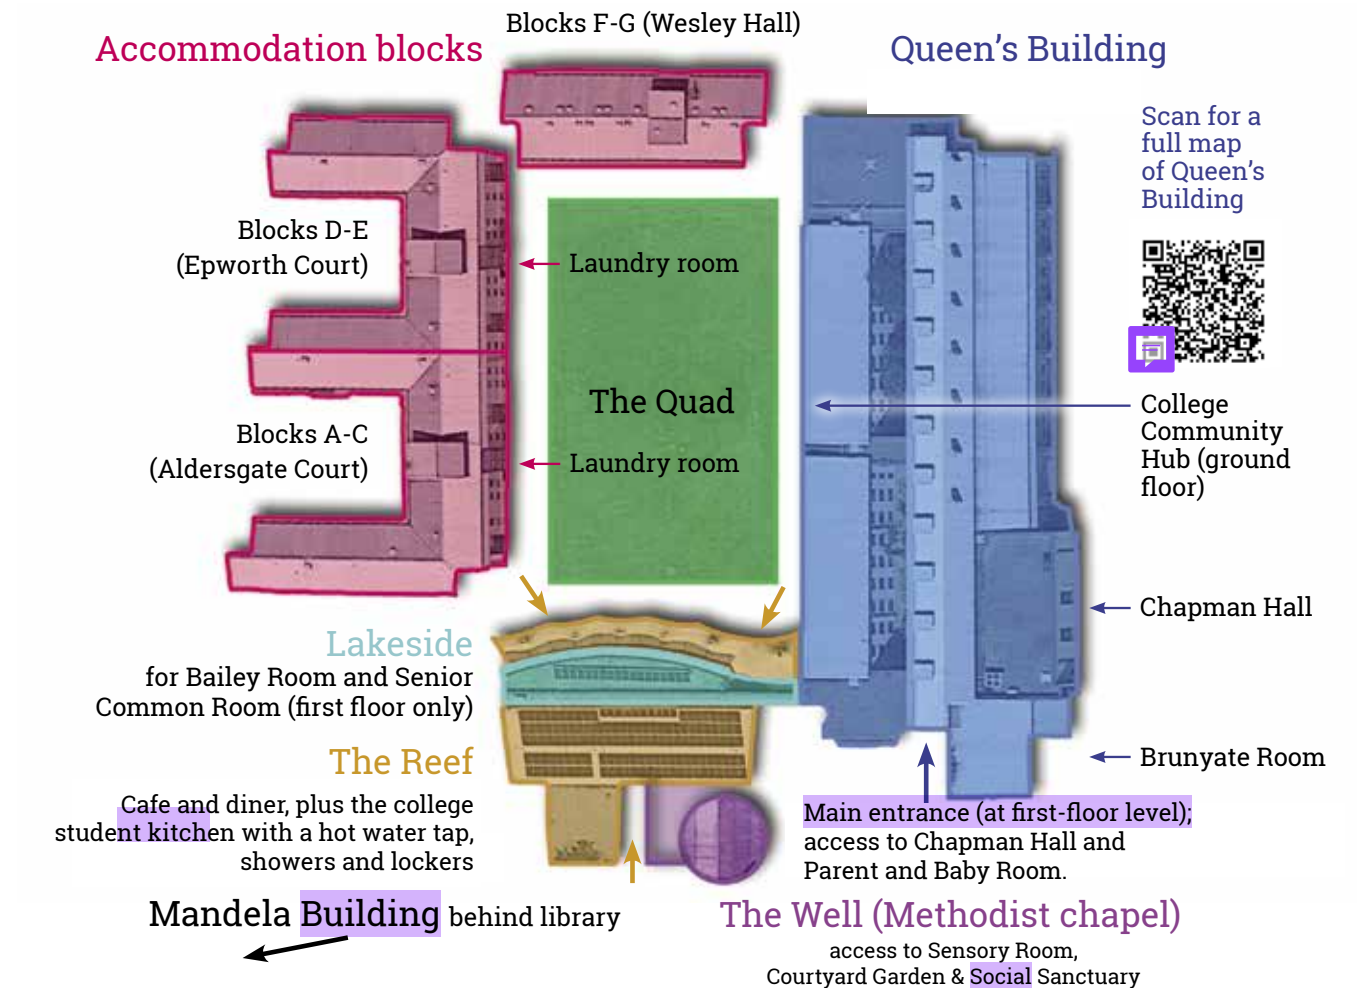

Southlands College

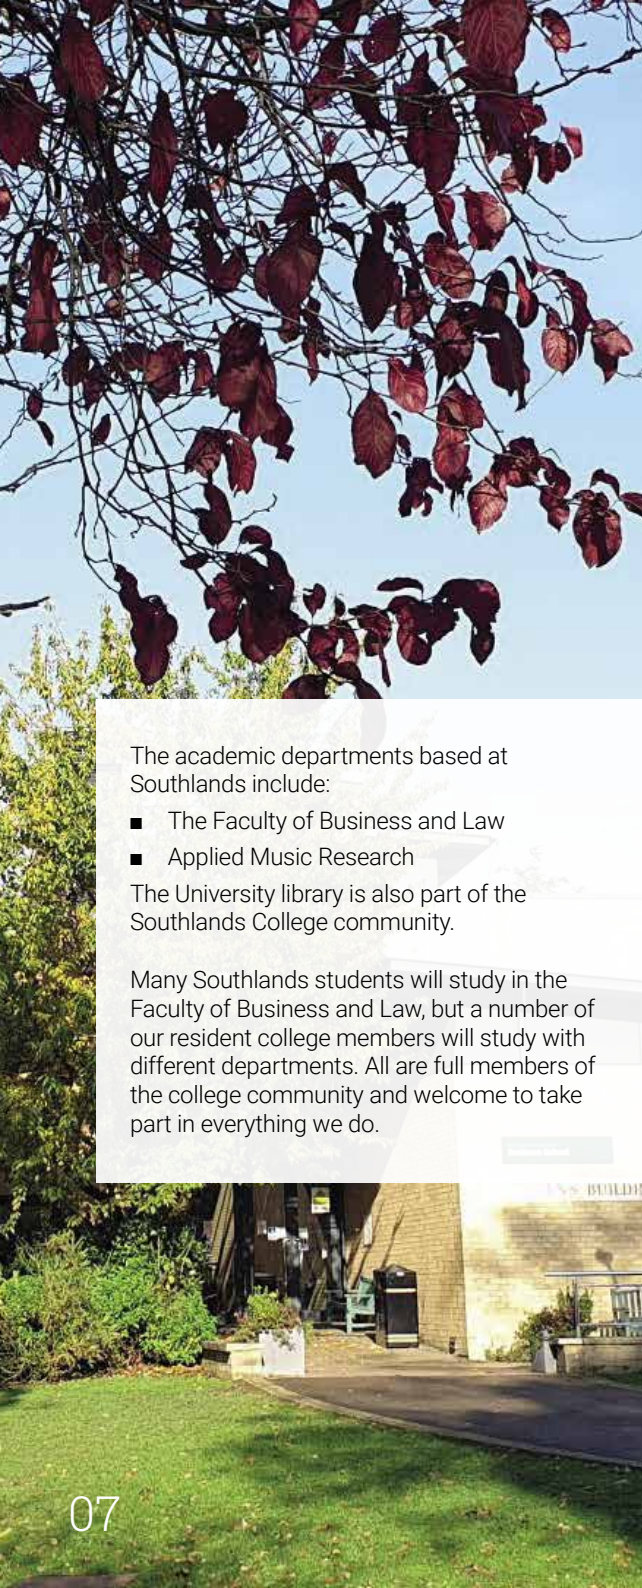

Rooms in Queen's Building (QB) and Lakeside (LS) all have numbers (e.g. LS002, QB201). The first number always indicates whether that room is on the ground floor (0), the first floor (1) or the second floor (2).

Each floor in Queen's Building (QB) has informal study spaces, toilets (accessible toilet on floor 1) and water fountains.

To access more information and to contact key members of staff, in person, by email or by telephone, see the directory on page 31.

Parking is available on the north and east sides of the college on a first-come basis. Please visit The Nest to register your vehicle.

Southlands College: Our Academic Departments

Welcome from Faculty of Business and Law

The academic departments based at Southlands include:

- The Faculty of Business and Law
- Applied Music Research

The University library is also part of the Southlands College community.

Many Southlands students will study in the Faculty of Business and Law, but a number of our resident college members will study with different departments. All are full members of the college community and welcome to take part in everything we do.

Southlands College is home to the Faculty of Business and Law, and a warm welcome is extended from all the academic and support staff to students who are studying here. As part of a vibrant learning community, you will meet and study with extraordinary people and develop enduring friendships. The faculty works closely with Southlands College to give you a sense of belonging, realise your potential and achieve personal and career success.

The faculty shares the college's commitment to responsible education, and in both Business and Law that focuses on evidence-based reflective practice. You will learn to face the challenges of the world of work in an ethical and socially responsible manner. A responsible and ethical approach to business and law can make a crucial difference to issues affecting our planet, life, and society.

Your academic success depends on the extent of your engagement with what the academic staff at the faculty offer you, and much depends on your motivation to succeed and make the best use of opportunities. Therefore, the faculty and college would like very much to encourage you to work with your lecturers and professors by preparing well and actively participating in curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities.

The faculty and college alike wish you all the best for your studies and learning journey with us towards a successful and happy life and career.

On Campus Facilities

The Reef (1)

The Reef is the main student space at Southlands College and contains showers, toilets and a College Kitchen with microwaves and a hot water tap. It is also the home of the Southlands Diner and Café, which you can find more details about on page 25 of this guide.

College Community Hub (2)

A quiet space for students and staff to relax in between classes, you can find members of the Southlands College team in the hub.

The Well, Southlands Chapel (3)

The Well is a space for all members of the college community to gather, relax and reflect. Find out more about the facilities in the Well on page 23 of this guide.

Southlands Quad (4)

Southlands Quad is our favourite event space in the warmer months, a perfect place to gather in the fresh air. There are a variety of picnic benches here and you are more than welcome to borrow sports equipment – please see page 11 of this guide for more details.

Bloomberg Trading Room (5)

The Bloomberg Trading Room is a dedicated space for students to use to learn about different elements of trading and finance.

Music Room (6)

Music has always been an integral part of our College identity. You can find more details about our music facilities on page 27 of this guide.

The Nest

The Nest team are based on campus and online, and are here to help our students make the most of their time at Roehampton.

Whether it's signposting to the academic achievement team on moving from a 2:1 to a 1st, how to get more involved with university life or if they might need wellbeing support, the Nest and our team of Student Life Specialists will guide our students along the way.

The Nest is the first place you should visit when you aren't sure where to go next.

Students can talk to us about anything and everything, but common things include:

- What's going on around campus this week
- Improving writing and referencing
- Getting a new Student ID card
- Supporting with issues on Moodle or with IT
- Help with submitting an issue over Service Desk
- Accessing wellbeing, mental health, and disability advice
- Help with finances or speaking to someone about fees and funding
- Applying for mitigating circumstances

No question is too big or too small – Nest are here to help.

How to contact us

The Nest is open 8:30am–5:30pm, Monday to Friday, and 10am–4pm, Saturday and Sunday (Library only).

We're online where students can talk to us via LiveChat or submit a ticket: <https://www.roehampton.ac.uk/nest>

If you are on campus

You'll find us in the following locations:

- Library, Digby Stuart College
- Parkstead House Reception, Whitelands College

We can be called directly on the phone 020 8392 3100.

You can pop in and let us know how we're doing or submit a ticket: <https://www.roehampton.ac.uk/nest>

Our University Library

A warm welcome from the Roehampton Library and the Library Services teams. As a Southlands student, your library is only a few steps away from college.

Library Services are here to support you in getting the best from your studies, whether you are on campus using the award-winning building or working online accessing our extensive digital library. If you are working from your study bedroom or off campus at home or anywhere, you can access over a million eBooks, journals, and online databases, 24/7/365 as well as find supporting information on how to study well and achieve your best.

During term time, the library is open from 8.30am to 10pm Monday to Thursday, 8.30am to 7pm on Fridays, 9.30am to 4pm on Saturdays, and 10am to 4pm on Sundays. With 1100 flexible study spaces, you will find a space to suit your needs. Choose between quiet individual or group study spaces, access PCs, loan a laptop, borrow one of our 280,000 books or enjoy the café on the lower ground floor and the exhibition area in the foyer.

Our Library Services teams are ready to help you on email and in the library. As members of Southlands College, you will see them at college events and activities. Please feel free to ask them any questions you have.

Have a look at our website www.library.roehampton.ac.uk/home for more information and to ask any questions.

A reading people will always be a knowing people.

College Life

Find out What's On

The best way to find out what's going on is to follow the college's social media:

 Southlands College

 @roe_southlands

 @roe_southlands (our official college page)

 Southlands College

Posters and fliers will often be put up around the college with information about events and activities.

Pick one up from Reception, the Reef, or the College Community Hub at QB010.

At Southlands we host all sorts of activities just for you..

QB010 (on the ground floor, in the middle of the main college building) is the College Community Hub. You'll often find College Community Leaders – our student team – or members of the college staff team down there and keen to hear from you or answer questions about getting involved in college life.

You'll find some sports and games equipment in the College Community Hub, which you are welcome to use. Please email southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk to borrow equipment or to find out more.

Sports and Competitions

The university recruits sports teams from all our student cohorts across a range of sports. The college also has its own football team, Southlands FC. To find out about how to get involved with the team, please email southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk

You can get involved with competitive sports teams such as rugby, cricket and squash, as well as social sports for all abilities on campus. If you'd like to find out more please follow Sport Roehampton on Instagram or email sportsandactive@roehampton.ac.uk

 @sportroe

Community Events and Activities

We try to run a variety of events for students, and we are happy to listen to new ideas!

The college is always looking at new ways to enhance the learning and living experience here, through events and projects, and we also welcome suggestions to improve the sustainability of our facilities and buildings.

If you have an idea or concept you'd like to suggest, please contact Tazim Fatima or Irene Reynolds from our Engagement Team at southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk

Postgraduates

Postgraduate students are welcome to take part in everything that happens at Southlands. Throughout the year, there are activities and events that postgraduates are encouraged to take part in, helping you connect with others and make the most of your time at Roehampton.

Postgraduate research students are very welcome to use the Senior Common Room (SCR). This is a quiet space immediately above the Reef, accessible from the Reef or Queen's Building. It is reserved for staff and research postgraduates and is a space designed for informal meetings, quiet study, and lunches.

Commuting Students

Southlands is a college for the whole community. We know that sometimes our campus is easier to navigate for students who live here, but everything at Southlands is available for our commuting students, and we encourage you to spend time here studying, relaxing and socialising.

There is an out-of-hours study room in QB046, as well as IT suites in the Queen's Building, which give you an option to study somewhere other than the Library. If you just need a space to relax, you can use the College Community Hub (QB010) and the faith spaces to unwind and meet other students too.

The Reef is an excellent space for eating and socialising, with its diner and café. The diner offers a variety of dietary provisions, but if you have a dietary need that is not being met, then please do talk to the college team.

The Reef contains a College Kitchen, where you can heat up food, make a drink with the hot water tap and use the fridges. You can also use our toilets, showers and designated study spaces. There is also a parent and baby room in QB149a in Queen's Building. To get access to this room, please visit the Nest in the Library.

If you cycle to campus, there are bicycle shelters located in front of Queen's Building. The closest bus stops are shown on the Campus Map (on pages 5–6 for more details). If you need any advice around travelling to and from the university, please speak to one of the college staff team.

College Clothing & Merchandise

We want you to feel as proud of being part of Southlands College as we are. A range of university and college-specific merchandise is available from the QR code below. College Hoodies and other merchandise will be available to purchase throughout the year.

Be friends of everyone.
Be enemies of no-one.

Staying Safe

Olivia Ogunbunmi
Senior College Warden

My role is to encourage positive behaviour and responsible citizenship on campus. I work closely with your Residential Community Leaders to make sure people are living together well in accommodation – looking out for each other and following the rules. You are welcome to visit me if you have any concerns about behaviour on campus, either in a flat or elsewhere. I also work alongside others on serious disciplinary and wellbeing cases, to ensure everyone has the best experience of university.

My team of College Wardens are available overnight to respond to emergencies. You can speak to the Wardens by calling Security on ext. 3333 using an internal phone, or call directly on 020 8392 333.

College Warden

Your College Warden works together with the college team to make sure students on campus are safe, looked after, getting along well together, and following the student code of conduct. Your Warden provides pastoral care to support Wellbeing and Security where needed, outside of office hours. It is also their role to help ensure the college community life is safe, supportive and nurturing. The Warden will help build a community and encourage responsible citizenship, informed by the values of the college.

Everyone who lives or works on campus has signed up to our code of conduct and the rules and policies which are in place to make sure we all support one another, and keep one another safe.

You can download the Code of Conduct from the university's website.

All students living on campus must complete their compulsory training, scan the QR code on the left to access the portal.

Wellbeing

By being part of a college we hope that you come to feel like this small community is a place of belonging, where you are supported throughout your time at Roehampton to achieve the most you can.

We are committed to supporting your wellbeing, and work in close partnership with the university's central services to provide a wide range of support for our students.

Southlands College has designated Student Wellbeing Officers to support anyone experiencing difficulties with their wellbeing. Your Wellbeing Officer is your first contact for any doubt or question around wellness resources or issues. They can refer and signpost you to a range of support services both within the University and externally, depending on your needs and specific context.

The Student Wellbeing Officers can provide in-person appointments as well as online (via phone or Microsoft Teams) during the week. You can book a first appointment with them to have a brief conversation and see what next steps can be most helpful. You can contact them by emailing SouthlandsWellbeing@roehampton.ac.uk or scan the QR code to go straight to the bookings page.

Follow Wellbeing at RoeSupport for campaign updates and general wellbeing insights.

Colin Bailey
Student Wellbeing Officer
(SWO)

We are here as your first port of call if you have any queries or anxieties.

As well as 1:1 appointments, the Wellbeing Officers offer a number of 15-minute quick query appointments, which are available to be booked (from 48 hours in advance, and up to 15 minutes in advance on the same day). These appointments run every weekday (Monday - Friday, with the exception of public holidays) and are held remotely - either through a telephone call or over the Microsoft Teams platform.

Scan the QR code to go to the bookings page.

General Wellbeing Provision

Southlands students have access to all the university's wellbeing, mental health and disability services. You can access these by emailing our SWOs at SouthlandsWellbeing@roehampton.ac.uk or any other member of the College staff team, or by asking one of your tutors or lecturers.

Here's some information about the services:

Student Medical Centre

We encourage all our students to make use of our on-campus medical centre, which is located in Froebel College, in the Old Court buildings. The Centre offers GP and nurse appointments.

To register or book an appointment, call 020 8392 3679 or email studentmedicalcentre@nhs.net

Disability and Dyslexia Services

Students with disabilities and specific learning differences can receive advice and support from the university. To discuss your needs, visit the Disability and Dyslexia Services office (located at Richardson Building, Digby Stuart College), call the service on 020 8392 3636, or email disabilities@roehampton.ac.uk

Additional Mental Health Support

The Wellbeing Team at Roehampton includes professional and training Counsellors who can support you via a one-off session or short-term counselling. You can self-refer to these services, but we recommend you discuss with your Student Wellbeing Officer if you think one of these options through Counselling could be a good fit for you.

Our Mental Health Advisers are a multidisciplinary team who can support you if you are experiencing difficulties related to a specific mental health diagnosis or condition. If you are struggling and have a diagnosed mental health condition, or you would like guidance in connecting with higher levels of care through NHS or other medical providers, discuss with your Student Wellbeing Officer if seeing a Mental Health Adviser could be a good fit for you.

Financial Support

If you have funding issues while at university, we have a team available to help support you. They can provide advice and help with questions about your loan, grants, scholarships and other financial matters. Contact the team through Colin, on 020 8392 3090, or on studentfinance@roehampton.ac.uk

LGBTQ+ Students

Specialist wellbeing and support services for LGBTQ+ students are available through our wellbeing team, the Students' Union, and locally to the university through external organisations. For more information, <https://www.roehamptonstudent.com/support/lgbtq/>

Student Leaders

College Community Leaders (CCLs)

College Community Leaders are peer student leaders in the college who are here to help foster the Southlands Spirit: that wonderful sense of belonging that makes being part of the college special! You'll see the CCL team facilitating events and activities of all kinds to enhance your university experience, as they work with our partners across the university! Your ideas are always welcome and they're happy to chat with you about how we can improve the student experience.

The CCL team is made up of individuals who represent home and international students, both undergraduate and postgraduate, whether resident in college or commuting from home. They're a friendly bunch, and are here to support you, so please do have a chat with them. Contact southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk or visit College Community Hub at QB010 to contact the CCL team.

Residential College Community Leaders (RCCLs)

RCCLs are usually second or third year students who work with the college to create a positive environment for residents, by providing a friendly and supportive welcome at the start of term, running regular events for those who live at Southlands College and offering advice and guidance throughout the year.

If you are living in college and have any questions about how to seek help, advice or support at the university, start with your RCCL. They will often be able to provide you with some initial advice and signpost you to staff who can help you further. RCCLs will run regular drop-ins for residents, details can be found on our social media pages @roe_southlands or by emailing southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk

RCCLs aren't appointed to police our residences but we do ask them to take a leadership role in building a happy and friendly residential environment. They receive training throughout the year as part of the Student Leadership Certificate which provides them with the resources and skills to make your experience of university life a happy and positive one. Residents of our college flats should feel welcome to talk to their RCCL about the community environment and should expect a positive, helpful and supportive response.

History of Residential Community Leaders

RCCLs are an important part of our community's focus on looking after one another at Southlands, and they have a long and important history. They are a direct continuation of the Southlands Mothers and Daughters system which existed right back into the early part of the last century. Here you can see some Southlands Mothers and Daughters in the 1940s.

Becoming a Community Leader

Being an RCCL or a CCL provides lots of opportunities to become a leader in the Southlands community, to develop your skills, knowledge and experience. Student leaders at the college receive formal training and professional development, all of which helps you achieve your personal, academic and professional goals.

If you think you have what it takes to join our team in next academic year (2027–2028), you are welcome to apply. Applications are open to all students, whether or not you currently live or study at Southlands. The application process begins in Spring 2027, and details will be posted on the college social media platforms and the Nest.

If you have any questions about being an RCCL or a CCL please email southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk

Student Leadership Certificate

All student leaders at Southlands College are automatically enrolled onto the Student Leadership Certificate, a university short course, which provides monthly training and comprehensive evaluation that allows CCLs and RCCLs to develop, grow and consider how their skills and values might influence their future career and life.

Other Student Leadership Roles

The CCL and RCCL roles are just two of a number of opportunities you as a student have to get involved. You may wish to represent your academic cohort as a Department Rep, apply to become an Elected Officer through the Roehampton Students' Union, or perhaps apply to start a student society.

Each role has its perks, like training and certified professional development, growing your network, or perhaps enhancing your work experience profile – all of which are fantastic for building up an impressive CV.

Whatever pathway you wish to pursue to develop your skills, knowledge and experience, speak to one of the student leaders or the college team to find out how you can join in. We need great leaders to continue to make the Southlands community the dynamic and vibrant place it is!

Democratic Representation

Roshan Bahadur Dhami

College President

rsusouthlands@roehampton.ac.uk

Hey everyone,

A big welcome to everyone joining Southlands, and welcome back to those returning! I hope you're all looking forward to the year ahead.

Southlands is a friendly and supportive place where you can meet new people, get involved in events, and make the most of your experience. As your College President, I want to be someone you can come to with any concerns, ideas or things you feel could be improved. I'll do my best to listen to what students have to say and make sure your concerns are properly represented.

I also hope everyone gets involved in college life, meets new people and enjoys their time at Southlands. Don't be afraid to get involved and try something new!

I'm looking forward to meeting everyone and having a great year together.

Sera Cherian

Deputy President

rsusouthlands@roehampton.ac.uk

Hey everyone!

I'm Sera Cherian, and I'm so happy to be your new Deputy President at Southlands this year!

Honestly, Southlands has given me some of my absolute favourite memories and lifelong friends. My main goal now is to make sure every single one of you gets to have an equally amazing experience.

For me, it's all about community, creating fun events, bringing your ideas to life, and making sure no one ever feels left on the outside looking in. Whether you have a cool project in mind, a quick question, or just want a friendly face to chat with, my door and inbox are always open. I'm genuinely always happy to chat!

I'm so excited to be on this journey with you all. Let's make this an incredible year together!

Your College President and Deputy President are here to represent you and make sure your voice is heard, both within your college, and the wider university.

Your College representatives listen to the experiences, ideas and concerns of students and work closely with Southlands College, the RSU and the University to help turn your feedback into action. They also represent Southlands students at RSU Council and other key meetings, helping to shape student priorities and ensure that the issues that matter to you are heard.

The Roehampton Students' Union (RSU) is independent from the University and works to champion student interests, improve student life and support students to make positive changes to their university experience. For more information about the RSU visit www.roehamptonstudent.com

The SU also support student-led societies, some of which are based right here in Southlands.

These societies are open to all students, regardless of what degree you study. And that's just a fraction of what there is to get involved with. Take a look at our full list of societies here: roehamptonstudent.com/societies/

Academic Representation

School Representatives are experienced student leaders who help raise and support issues that matter most within your academic experience.

Taking feedback from across the whole school, School Reps attend key University meetings like School Boards and Education Committee. They work with both the University and the SU to help drive student engagement and support feedback between students and staff.

Southlands Venture

An exciting initiative that embodies our college ethos to 'do all the good we can to all the people we can'.

Southlands Venture is designed to empower students to plan a short, justice-centred, project on an issue you are passionate about. Whether you want to raise awareness of a specific issue, coordinate a campaign, or create resources for others, Venture is here to help make your voice heard and enhance your skills and experience.

Supported by small grants from the Southlands Methodist Trust and mentoring from the College Team you can bring your idea to life.

Past projects have included:

- Turning used coffee beans into a sustainable skincare product.
- UR Neurobeautiful Exhibition – celebrating and raising awareness of different neurotypes in our University of Roehampton community.
- Thread Carefully Exhibition and Colloquium – raising awareness of the impact of fast fashion on the environment and exploring sustainable alternatives.

So, if you are passionate about social justice and have a community-project or campaign idea, we want to hear about it!

Applications must meet 3 simple criteria:

1. Have an element involving the community (university or local area), volunteering, or campaigns.
2. Involve other people beyond the project organiser
3. Be completed within a 12-week time frame

How to get started

If you have an idea for a project, please get in touch emailing Southlands.College@roehampton.ac.uk with the subject heading 'Venture'. We will get back to you to discuss your exciting idea and how to make it happen!

Do all the good you can

Chaplaincy at Southlands

Flourishing in Faith and Friendship: At Southlands, our chaplains are here to help the community to flourish; create spaces and opportunities for those who want them to practice and explore faith; and to promote friendships across our diverse community.

Here for you

As a college community we share in the whole of life and Southlands College strives to be a place that celebrates your joys and achievements and also offers support and space when you face challenges. Whether you are a person of faith or not, our multi-faith Chaplaincy is here to listen, encourage and support you during your studies with us.

Your College Chaplain, Rev Nicola Morrison, is available to you throughout the year, as are other members of the Roehampton Chaplaincy Team, especially Sabiha Iqbal, Muslim Chaplain. Both are also members of the Southlands College Team. We will be at college events, both on campus and online.

Check our college and chaplaincy web and social media pages for regular updates on our activities. We are, along with a wider chaplaincy team with a Hindu and Jewish Chaplain, available for one-to-one conversations should you have questions about faith activities on and off-campus, or just need a coffee and chat. Contact us directly, either in person or using our contact details.

Spaces

There are a several Chaplaincy spaces at Southlands that everyone is welcome to explore. These compliment a wider number of faith spaces across campus.

The Well

With a focus on refreshment, The Well contains a Sensory Room as well as being a home to creative projects and exhibitions, a space for music rehearsals and a venue for discussion groups.

Prayer Rooms and Wudu (ablution spaces)

These are located on the ground floor of Queen's Building (QB). The prayer rooms are accessible with your ID card between 8.00am–8.00pm, and whether you are a person of faith or not, all are very welcome to use them. Each room provides space to pray, relax, read, and contemplate. These rooms are rooted in the Islamic tradition and therefore they are shoe-free, and there is a dedicated space for brothers in room QB054, and for sisters in QB029.

There are also Prayer Rooms located at Froebel College, Digby Stuart College and Whitelands College. Southlands has dedicated spaces for Wudu located on the ground floor of Queen's Building next to the Prayer Rooms. Please see the Chaplaincy website for further details and our faiths spaces map.

Worship

On Campus, our Christian Chaplains offer regular opportunities to worship (details on RoeChaplaincy social media). Nicola also welcomes students to our Partner Church, Putney Methodist Church, which meets to worship on Sundays at 10.30am. Please feel free to contact Nicola directly for more details. Our Muslim Chaplain, Sabiha organises Friday Jumu'ah prayer on campus for our Muslim and wider community, as well as a vast array of activities that include the wider community. For further details please see our social media platforms or email Sabiha (Muslim Chaplain).

Why Chaplaincy?

Southlands was founded and is still supported by the Methodist Church, which is characterised by openness and inclusivity. Methodism has a strong focus on building community and supporting social action and the spirit of this heritage remains something that continues to enrich us in all our diversity. Here at Roehampton we are delighted that our Chaplaincy offers support for people across a range of faith traditions, reflecting the heritage of the four colleges and the identities of our students today. We are committed to exploring ecumenical and inter-faith work across the campus and to demonstrating the common commitments of all faiths to nurturing a happy and supportive community.

We should be rigorous in judging ourselves and gracious in judging others.

– John Wesley (1703–1791) Wesley was a founder of Methodism. Southlands College was established by the Methodist Church in 1872

How to get involved at the University of Roehampton

London Wetland Centre

The University of Roehampton has joined forces with London Wetland Centre (LWC) to provide new opportunities for student work placements and research and project collaborations under their shared commitment to the environment and sustainability. The LWC is only 1.2 miles from the campus and can be reached on foot or by taking bus 419. You can enter the Wetlands Centre with a £7.45 discount on the entry fee.

The Clinic is led by a dedicated Law Clinic Manager and supervised by experienced practising barristers. It forms part of the final-year Clinical Legal Skills module, with additional volunteering opportunities available to students across all years.

Students gain hands-on experience by interviewing clients, conducting legal research, drafting legal documents, managing case files and developing the professional skills expected of future lawyers. Areas of advice include: Employment, Family, Landlord and Tenant, Consumer and Contract, and Personal Injury.

Sport Roehampton

Sport Roehampton run an on campus gym on the Froebel College campus (see map on page 6 for more details) and offer a wide range of sport and physical activity opportunities for all students. From competitive sport such as cricket, rugby and squash for more experienced students to social activities, including womens-only workouts for those wanting to try something new. They have something to meet the needs of all our students.

Roehampton Law School Clinic

Are you ready to move  and textbooks and develop the practical legal skills employers value? Put your legal knowledge into practice while making a real difference in the local community.

The Roehampton Law School Clinic is a free legal advice service offering students the opportunity to develop practical legal skills through real client work. The Clinic receives referrals from Citizens Advice Wandsworth, LawWorks and Forces Transition, and works in partnership with Hodge Jones & Allen Solicitors to deliver a specialist Personal Injury Clinic.

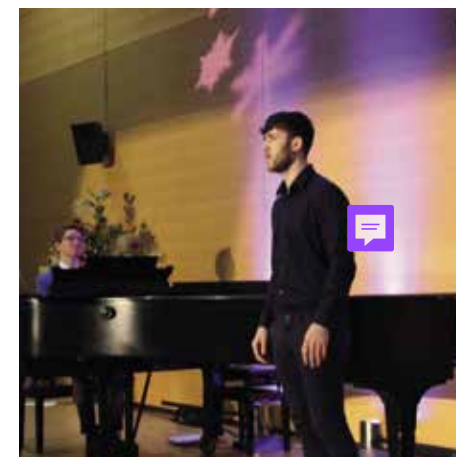

Music at Southlands

At Southlands, we are lucky enough to have access to a lot of facilities for making music. We have practice rooms, instruments you can borrow, and even a large concert hall for performances.

Community music is a big part of what we do. The music society meets regularly through the year, and various groups meet to rehearse and perform in college and further afield. If you enjoy playing music at any level, or if you want to find out about opportunities to attend performances of music in any style, we would love you to get involved. For information about music activities through the year, follow @roe_southlands on Instagram. To find out more, please email southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk.

If you are keen to get involved, you can contact the Music Society by emailing music.society@roehampton.ac.uk or by following them on Instagram at @roe.musicsociety.

Paid opportunities to perform at college events are available to students, contact southlands.college@roehampton.ac.uk.

Hark! The herald angels sing,
“Glory to the newborn King!
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled.”
Joyful, all ye nations rise,
Join the triumph of the skies,
With th’angelic host proclaim:
“Christ is born in Bethlehem.”
Hark! The herald angels sing,
“Glory to the newborn King!”

– Taken from the famous Christmas Carol by Charles Wesley. Wesley was one of the founders of Methodism. The Methodist Church established Southlands College in 1872.

Southlands College History

The colleges at Roehampton aim to build a strong community, which meets the needs of diverse groups of staff and students, both residential and commuting, and enriches their experience of university life. Each college aims to maintain and develop the ethos and values of its founding body.

Southlands has a rich history, firmly rooted in the principles of equality of opportunity, education for all, and a commitment to acting in the community to improve the lives of others. Southlands was founded by the Methodist Church as a training college for female teachers in Battersea 1872. In 1930 it relocated to Wimbledon Parkside and in 1997 the present premises were opened on Roehampton Lane. In 1975, Southlands, Digby Stuart, Froebel and Whitelands Colleges joined together to form what was then the Roehampton Institute and is now University of Roehampton. Southlands is still owned by the Methodist Church, but is given to the University as part of the Church's commitment to Higher Education in Britain.

Although Southlands is a different place in a number of ways to how it looked and functioned in the 1870s, the college retains its firm commitment to the lasting principles of its foundation.

Equality, access, diversity and commitment to valuing the individual are just a few of these. Even the architecture of the college reflects its roots. Our quadrangle is open at the corners to allow people to come and go. It is a place that welcomes and which engages with the outside world. This is a constant reminder to us all that, as well as being a small and connected community, we must be an open and welcoming place, and go out and engage with the world to help shape it and be shaped by it.

Southlands Alumni

As well as remaining in contact with the broader university community, as a member of Southlands you will of course also be welcomed back to college alumni events. These are an excellent opportunity to stay in touch with what's going on at Southlands and to keep in contact with others from your time at college.

We would be very pleased to facilitate alumni reunion groups at college where there's a desire to come and meet here. Please email gilly.king@roehampton.ac.uk for details.

Southlands College celebrated its sesquicentennial (150th) anniversary in 2022. More details are available at: www.roehampton.ac.uk/colleges/southlands-college/southlands-150/
