

The Bratton Collection

This is a collection of around 900 nineteenth and early twentieth century children's books given to the Learning Resources Centre by Professor Jacqueline Bratton in 1996. Many of the books were originally given as gifts and prizes and contain interesting inscriptions or bookplates.

The books are for reference only and are on display in the Children's Literature Collection.

The following list is in alphabetical order of authors. Where no author can be identified, the book has been listed under its title.
